Friction In Fin. Com.

CITY HALL HEARS OF DISCORD

Reports of friction in the Boston Finance Commission, which it was rumored to be resigning, were denied today by the commission. In the face of Mr. Lehy's statement, the rumor continued to spread that he did not like Chairman Murphy's methods in the commission and had hence resigned.

Mr. Lehy said today:

GAVE FIVE YEARS SERVICE.

"There is absolutely no truth in the story in a morning paper of friction between members of the commission."

"I feel that after serving five years I have done my duty to the public. I was five years president of the City Club and for five years I was president of the Fruit and Produce Exchange. It seems to me that it is about time I withdrew from holding office."

"My resignation is not hastily. I wrote out my resignation to hand to Governor Foss a year ago, but was deterred by appeals from my friends. So far as I know Mr. Murphy is an efficient chairman and the office is going along smoothly. I wish to be relieved of the duties and responsibilities of the office. That is all."

Commissioner Moore said:

"There is no friction. I do not expect to resign. I do not know what led to the publication of such a story. That's all I have to say."

Commissioner Carr said:

"I have no intention whatever of resigning. On the contrary I like the work and everything has been going along harmoniously. I regret Mr. Lehy's resignation at this time. There is absolutely no foundation for the story in a morning paper."

A DREAM, SAYS MURPHY.

Chairman Murphy of the Finance Commission said:

"There is no truth in the story of friction among members of the Finance Commission. Whoever wrote the story must have dreamed it. It appears to be the work of some irresponsible party, and as such, requires no comment."

"I will say, however, that Mr. Lehy's resignation is regretted by every member of the commission. His absence from our commission causes a vacancy that it will be hard to replace."

"Mr. Lehy is convinced that he ought to be relieved of the heavy duties of the commission after five years faithful service. There is no other explanation for his resignation."

"And as for any member being displeased with my chairmanship I have yet to hear of it. I never worked with a more able, intelligent and conscientious man, and he has brought to my attention, every major rule, and our deliberations have been unusually orderly and harmonious."

John Ford, the driver, jerked the horses back on their haunches, bringing the heavy wagon to a sharp stop, and the man's life was saved. He was sent to Providence for safe keeping. "He Owns His Own Home"

When you hear that said, you immediately think of him as a man of means. It establishes him in your mind as a sane, solid American citizen—a man to be envied.

But there are thousands of men who own their own homes just as easily as they pay rent if they would only investigate some of the splendid real estate propositions that are being offered each day.

In the "Want Ad" columns of the American, for example, some of the choicest home offerings in Boston are matters of daily appearance.

A few hundred dollars is frequently sufficient to take advantage of them—and the monthly payments amount to little more than rent.

You'll find it profitable to look through these columns from day to day. If you have something special in mind, a "Want Ad" of your own will soon locate it for you. When it is written leave it with any of the American "Want Ad" Stations, the branch office at 254 Washington Street, Main office at 80 Summer Street, or

DEFIANCE OUT OF THE RACE

HIGHLANDS, N. J., June 10.—The Resolute led nearing the first mark—half the thirty mile distance of the race—but the Vanitie was gaining at that time.

The Resolute led by four minutes at the time.

By HARRY C. THOMAS.

HIGHLANDS, N. J., June 10.—The three America's cup boats—Resolute, Vanitie and Defiance—met today for the first time in a race, when they started over the regular cup course of thirty miles off Sandy Hook.

Defiance, however, had trouble with its new sails and an hour and a quarter after the race started—while trailing two miles behind the other two boats—the Bath yacht, which was racing today for the first time, and returned under tow.

They got away at 11:15 o'clock, with Resolute in the lead and Vanitie right behind. Defiance was last.

It was a race of fifteen miles to windward and back in a southerly breeze of about eight miles an hour and a westerly wind.

Good racing weather favored the Resolute, Defiance and Vanitie.

A southerly wind of 14 miles was blowing at the Hook and this would take the boats over the Jersey coast in the direction of Long Branch.

A heavy mist at 5 o'clock this morning beat down all the sea that was running at midnight. There was no wind at 11 o'clock, but the race was on before the race.

The boats were ready to start today in the first race and down here is the home of the skipper, Selah H. Jewell, of course, the citizens of the place said that Defiance would win.

The race was due to start at 11 and was over the American's cup course. All three boats were in the Horseshoe, Defiance being towed down yesterday, and the Vanitie and Resolute came off from Sea Girl and crossed the line morning at 2:20. Vanitie got up her big

FEAR LOST LYNN GIRL A VICTIM OF FOUL PLAY

Jessie Brown, the twenty-year-old Lynn girl who disappeared last Saturday night, has not with foul play and is either dead or a captive, in the opinion of Mrs. John J. Regan of No. 8 Logan street, Lynn, who was the girl's employer. Mrs. Regan said today:

"I believe Jessie met with violence at the hands of a man. Several times the girl has told me that this man threatened to kill her. Once I heard him say: 'I'll get you yet, and I'll get you good.'"

"Jessie left my house Saturday night on an errand and did not return. She was a very working girl—nothing with her—so I am satisfied she did not plan to go away."

"This man was seen on the street that night. I believe Jessie met him, and that in some way he took her away and has her hidden in some house either in Lynn or the surrounding towns."

"The Lynn police believe she is hidden somewhere, and they are searching every suspicious house."

"The girl's home is in Richmond. She wore a red skirt, white waist, red sweater and blue hat when she disappeared."

DRIVE HUERTA BACK ON CITY OF MEXICO

TORREON, June 10.—The first battle in the final campaign for the capture of Mexico City and the overthrow of the Huerta regime has been fought and won by the Constitutionalists at Zacatecas.

General Pablo Natera, who spearheaded General Villa as the commander-in-chief of the rebel forces in the field, reported to the Constitutionalists headquarters here today that his army had attacked the Federal outposts at Zacatecas and driven them back in great disorder. He said the Federalists left 150 dead and many wounded on the field. The Constitutionalists lost fifty killed and wounded.

VILLA ARRIVES WITH STAFF.

General Villa, who has been in the field, reported to the Constitutionalists headquarters here today that his army had attacked the Federal outposts at Zacatecas and driven them back in great disorder. He said the Federalists left 150 dead and many wounded on the field. The Constitutionalists lost fifty killed and wounded.

An open battle between Carranza and Villa seems imminent. Villa, who has been standing by the United States in the negotiations for peace, considers that he was humiliated and insulted by the action of Carranza in taking away his control of the railroads, the telegraph and even of the army itself.

Carranza's latest hostile act to the man who has won all the battles for the Constitutionalists was the discharge of Carranza, Villa's chief operator, the appointment of Pablo Natera and the transferring of the

TERROR REIGNS ITALY FROM STRIKE RIOTS

ROME, June 10.—Strike rioting was resumed here today between the workers and the soldiers. Many were injured in a rioting of shots. The strikers erected barricades in the streets, but they were captured by police and troops after fierce fighting. The strike extended to Naples today and all work at that port was suspended.

Boasting to free striking workers spread terror. They burned the railroad stations of Ancona and Fabriano, and disorder was reported from many other places. In order to prevent a condition of anarchy in central Italy, martial law has been proclaimed in many towns where the radical Bolsheviks are trying to gain adherents for the general strike.

In all of these places there have been frequent clashes between the police and strikers. Tourists are fleeing from the country in droves, fearing that railroad service will be completely paralyzed in a short time.

During the night the strikers attempted to burn the railroad station at Ancona in which a score were hurt. Police officers were killed at Ancona, where anarchists called a railroad strike. Prompt action by the authorities prevented the success of the strike, and the anarchists retreated by attacking the police.

The railroad strike has failed in a few minor centers, but it is due only to rigid precaution taken by the troops, who have been placed in guard of the terminals.

The strike continues here and soldiers are patrolling the city to prevent another outbreak of violence. Such an outbreak last night when the strikers marched to the Quirinal. An outbreak of violence in the city of Rome, where the strikers and soldiers are in the hospitals.

The strikers were informed today when one of their number was killed in a rioting. They threaten to make better terms.

WILSON WOULD GIVE JAPAN THE PHILIPPINES

—Bishop Fallows

CHICAGO, June 10.—Bishop Samuel Fallows of Chicago declared today that the cutting of the Philippine archipelago into islands and the United States to re-constitute the islands as an enormous cost in blood and money.

Bishop Fallows has been promoting the Philippines with educational work for half a century. Last year he toured the Philippines, where he interviewed American missionaries and other Americans and clerics of all denominations. He says:

"The proposal to cut the Philippine islands and leave them to their own devices would be criminal and ridiculous. If for no other reason than the loss of a Filipino army and navy the proposal is absurd. The United States would have to hold its strong hand against the world to protect the islands from outsiders while the natives were settling each other's quarrels in the interior. When one nation must demand on another, armed preparation it cannot claim independence."

The plan to call in other nations to join in a treaty agreement to divide the Philippines would be a very hardy, but the very thing that would keep the administration busy with some mysterious problem of neutrality and the Philippines.

The plan for independence in the Philippines, which is a half century old, is a very old one. It is a plan that has been tried many times, but it has never worked. It is a plan that is a half century old, but it is a plan that is a half century old.

SAYS SULPHUR DRIVES ECZEMA FROM THE SKIN

Use Like Cold Cream to Instantly Stop Itching and Clear the Skin.

Sulphur, says a renowned dermatologist, just common bold-sulphur made into a thick cream, will soothe and heal the skin when irritated and broken out with Eczema or any form of eruption. The moment it is applied all itching ceases, and after two or three applications the Eczema disappears, leaving the skin clear and smooth.

For all skin sufferers to get the best results, however, an ounce of bold-sulphur cream and apply it to the irritated parts the same as sulphur has occupied a secure position in the practice of dermatology and cutaneous affections by reason of its parasite-destroying property. It is not only parasitocidal, but also antipruritic, antiseptic and remarkably healing in all irritable and inflammatory conditions of the skin.

While not always effecting a permanent cure, it never fails to instantly subside the angry itching and irritation and heal the Eczema right up, and it is often years later before any eruption again appears on the skin. This is published for: Walter Ruther Dodge Co. Cincinnati, Ohio

SEE CURLEY ECONOMY MOVE IN SATURDAY

Mayor Curley has called a conference of the members of the Park and Recreation Commission at the City Hall tomorrow to straighten out the difficulties existing between the two bodies over the placing of the statues of Wendell Phillips and Robert Burns in the Public Garden.

The members of the Park and Recreation Commission do not want the statues placed in the Public Garden. Those of the City Commission do. A certain extent, yet rights over the other an interesting situation has developed.

Persons interested in the Art Commission's side of the controversy claim Mayor Curley's economy plan is the basis of the trouble. He recently appointed the Park and Recreation Commission, whose principal object is the placing of the Burns and Phillips statues on the Charles Mall, and the City Commission, which is the spending of $20,000 necessary to erect a statue of Wendell Phillips in the Public Garden.

The park commission has power to refuse to grant sites for statues. If, in its judgment, the sites are not suited to the beauty of the park, while the City Commission has the power to place upon the artistic merits of the statues and the sites. The park commissioners cannot remove statues already placed without concurrence of the art commissioners.

The park commissioners take the ground that Mayor Curley's economy plan is the basis of the trouble. He recently appointed the Park and Recreation Commission, whose principal object is the placing of the Burns and Phillips statues on the Charles Mall, and the City Commission, which is the spending of $20,000 necessary to erect a statue of Wendell Phillips in the Public Garden.

PIRATES OPEN
4-GAME SERIES
WITH BRAVES

By NICK FLATLEY.

Everybody up for history to repeat itself. Just about a year ago this time the Pittsburgh Pirates blew in to town to pick up a few easy games from the Braves. When they went to the field, the Braves' four crack players were after a few home runs.

Here, though, they let the same down again. The Braves put a lot of heart into the Braves' hot season and got them started, and a like occurrence would no doubt have very similar results in this season now with them.

From the way the Braves went at the Reds, in the series just over, they have recovered the old fighting spirit. Though the Braves' outfit had been sleeping victoriously along the line, the best they could do was to break even with the Cardinals. And that was only a lucky day to do that. A couple of unexpected turns gave them the two games they did win.

The Pirates, who started out the year at a furious clip, are here with speed highly diluted, so to speak. In the last few weeks a horror from the yawning fraternity—they seem to have been involved most of the time.

While the Braves have lost a lot of games, their record for the last three weeks has been fully as good as that of the Pittsburghers, as they should go into the series with plenty of confidence. The Braves' invaders have just come from Philadelphia, where the best they could do was to get an even break with the rather poorly moving Quakers.

The new batting order which Manager Stallings displayed yesterday will be given another tryout. What it does, except for an alarming amount of hitting on the part of the Braves' solid defense, they won't be the same.

"Yes," said the girl, tearfully.

"Then I shall always love you."

"Oh! What a relief," cried Margery, not to be worried by any threat. "But what have you been saying to me?"

How Shall a Man in College Prepare for Newspaper Work?

Let Him Practise THINKING to Win in Journalism, as He Practises Running and Jumping to Win in Athletics.

(This editorial was written at the request of a young man studying in one of the big colleges. It may interest young men outside of college.)

Newspaper work is a business of thinking.

You must know first how others—the millions—think. Readers are more interested in what they think than in what the editors think.

The successful editor tells people what THEY think, and the people say, "That is a very intelligent editor."

The good young reporter thinks. He knows that if a thing is interesting the people wish that they could have seen it. So he asks himself, "How can I make readers feel that they actually SAW this fire or this political convention?" and he thinks out the answer.

Is it possible for a young man at school to practise thinking, as he practises putting the shot or vaulting with a pole?

If it IS possible to practise thinking, that is the practical work for the man who intends to engage in the newspaper business.

Everybody can sing a little. The man who wants to make a living as a singer PRACTISES singing.

Everybody can run and jump a little.

He who wants to win the hurdle race practises day after day, taking his hurdles in his stride. The best man, without practise, would be beaten by a second-rate man practising conscientiously.

Every young man practises something—billiards, athletics, foolishness, memorizing. How many actually practise THINKING?

Make the experiment.

Look at an oak tree standing by itself in the middle of a field and practise thinking about that.

You would think about the sky and how to describe it, the green fields, the effect of solitude on the oak, spreading in all directions beautifully—but not growing up as high as it would if closely crowded by other trees fighting for the sunlight.

With a few years' thinking and practise of writing, you might be able to describe that one tree so that it would be clear in the mind of a reader who had already seen oak trees.

But it would take you other years to think and to write in such a way as to make the oak mentally visible to a man of the tropics who had seen only palms and thorns.

When you enter newspaper work, bringing with you the knowledge that you have gathered of things unseen and unknown by the multitude, your task will be to describe the oak and make it familiar and clear to the minds of those that have never seen it.

Is it possible to PRACTISE THINKING? Answer the question for yourself now before you finish reading this column.

In one of his admirable books—the best that have been written on speaking and reading intelligently—Professor Curry quotes these two lines:

"Two prisoners looked out from behind their bars.

One saw the mud, the other saw the stars."

It was destined to make that the basis of an editorial to fill an entire page in a Sunday newspaper published in various cities and with an aggregate circulation of more than two millions.

You see the deep meaning of these two lines, that contrast the high and the low way of looking at life.

In the writing of a Sunday editorial it is necessary to think out a picture or cartoon to illustrate the idea and attract attention. In all writing, whether it be a simple advertisement, a printed sermon, you must do four things—

Make the public look at it, read it, understand it, believe it.

The cartoon that goes with an editorial is intended to make the people LOOK at it.

Before you go any further, practise thinking by asking yourself this question: What picture would illustrate those two lines about the prisoners looking out from behind their bars?

That question was put to a half-dozen experienced professional cartoonists and other artists, all of them earning very considerable salaries—as much as two members of the United States Cabinet, for instance.

Not one of them could think out a good pictorial idea.
Each suggested that the only possible thing would be to show literally two prisoners behind their bars looking out, one gazing up at the stars with a rapt, virtuous expression, the other gazing down at a mud puddle with a very dull look.

If you want to practise thinking, ask yourself how YOU would illustrate the two lines in such a way as to add to their power and concentrate attention.

After you have finished your own thinking, read the result of a woman's thinking.

The two lines were sent to an artist, a woman who had given up lucrative work in the city to live in the country for the sake of her child. Women do that thing, men do not.

She sent back a picture that showed the interior of a drinking resort.

In the centre sat an unfortunate woman, a poor creature condemned by the wickedness of man.

Two men sat looking at her. And they were the prisoners behind their bars. They were both drinking, both weak, both prisoners of vice.

But, as they looked at the woman, their view was different.
One of them saw the soul in the woman, that could not be killed by brutality, misery and suffering, and the other saw the mud, the poor creature of the gutter and the street, and saw nothing else. They looked out from behind their bars. One saw the mud, the other saw the stars.

The woman who made that picture—which will probably be published to illustrate a Sunday editorial—HAD PRACTISED THINKING.

Everybody can run a little and think a little. The good runner, the good jumper and the good THINKER must PRACTISE his art.

Try it.
